Guidelines for landholders and land managers

Guidelines have been developed to further explain elements of the Riverina Highlands Regional Vegetation Management Plan (RHRVMP) exemptions and Regional Vegetation Management Strategy (RVMS) for the Riverina Highlands region. These guidelines are similar but more detailed and locally specific than state-wide Department of Sustainable Natural Resources guidelines and standard consent conditions.

How were the guidelines developed?

The guidelines that are regionally specific have been drafted or are to be drafted by the Riverina Highlands Regional Vegetation Committee and associated Working Groups to ensure they reflect regional conditions. Those that apply at a State-wide level are to be reviewed and updated to ensure regional relevance.

Which guidelines are specific to the Riverina Highlands and which apply at a State-wide level?

The guidelines relevant to the Riverina Highlands region and further explain the provisions of the Riverina Highlands RVMP and RVMS include:

- Explanatory Note: Applying for Development Consent;
- Guidelines for Sustainable Harvesting of Dry to Moist Open Sclerophyll Forest within the Riverina Highlands;
- Beneficial Conservation Management Exemption Guidelines within the Riverina Highlands;
- Guidelines: How to Minimise the Environmental Impacts of Clearing;
- How to Prepare a Property Vegetation Plan (PVP) in the Riverina Highlands;
- Guidelines for Landholders: Principles for landscape design; and

- Roadside handbook: Environmental guidelines for road construction and maintenance workers in NSW

Guidelines that currently apply at a State-wide level under the Native Vegetation Conservation Act 1997 include:

- Guidelines for willow (and other exotic plant) control
- Guidelines and Application Form for Clearing Vegetation under the RHRVMP.
